PRODUCT DISCONTINUANCE NOTIFICATION PDN2312

Description

Intel is discontinuing the following IP ordering codes.

Reason for Change

The selected Nios® II IP ordering codes are being discontinued due to product transition to Nios® V.

Recommendation

Intel recommends that customers migrate to the Nios® V Processor, which is based on the RISC-V architecture, enables access to a growing ecosystem, removes the need for Windows Subsystem for Linux, and offers a dedicated development environment with Ashling RiscFree IDE for Intel FPGAs software. For more information, refer to the Nios® V Processor - Intel® FPGA web page.

To migrate your Nios® II Processor designs to Nios® V Processor, please review AN978: Nios® V Processor Migration Guide application note that demonstrates important differences between the two processors and provides steps to migrate your designs.

Customers may place last-time-buy orders on the ordering codes impacted by this discontinuance notice.
